

Ms.T.Bharathi

Bharathi Thiyagarajan is into healthcare over a decade, completed Nursing by 2009 and worked as a Staff Nurse for seven months inclusive of three months exposure to Operation Theater, after that completed Master's Degree in Psychology, Business Administration and Medical Law. She also completed Master of Philosophy specialized in Hospital and Health systems Management through work integrated program from Birla Institute of Science and Technology, Rajasthan, India during her previous work assignment. After earning Post graduate degree in Business Administration, joined a trust based Medical College Hospital as a Management Trainee, moved on as Administrative Executive and promoted as Assistant Manager for the entire clinical services of a 760 bedded teaching hospital during when she acquired abilities to establish new departments, management of existing facilities with appropriate manpower and cost cutting measures. With five years and two months experience in hospital administration, she realized that upcoming administrators in this field to be trained in the skills required in work place and also it has to be incorporated in the curriculum. To reiterate the same in the university where she studied, she joined as a teaching faculty and actively participating in lecturing and other administrative work related to academics and accreditation, Since October 2017. She presented research papers in few International conferences and published two research articles in Scopus Indexed Journals. As a trained journalist, she is using that skill set to write blog and articles for social awareness as well.